Dear Friends in Christ,

We are living in very strange times! With all this covid -19 and the other related viruses, it's hard to know the truth about all this. They say wearing a mask is like putting up a chain-linked fence to hold out mosquitos and yet the medical profession believes a mask is the right thing.

Still, people are so conscience about that and totally ignore God and their need for Him. I am amazed at the people who say they are saved and live like the devil. That's true of the South. I have witnessed to so many people who are counting of some church experience to get them to Heaven whether it's baptism or something else and their lifestyle doesn't reflect a born-again experience.

I have a Jamaican friend who lived through a horrible car wreck and an encounter with lightening. He believes his deliverance from those makes him alright with the Lord even though I've explained the gospel to him. I've been witnessing and winning people to Christ for about sixty years. Times have definitely changed. However, our resolve should never change in getting the gospel out. The Lord expects us to be faithful in our "Jerusalem" (which is wherever you are) as the times will continue to change. God's business remains the same. Salvation is still available to those who will receive it. We must remain faithful!

Yours for souls,

Bro. Daylon Hicks
